

FACULTY-LED INTERIM AND SUMMER COURSES

Off-campus courses, both international and in the United States, are developed and led by St. Olaf faculty each Interim and summer term. Courses vary from year to year and require an application. Many programs are competitive, as there are more applicants than spaces.

Approved courses are listed under the Courses tab for each academic department (<http://catalog.stolaf.edu/academic-programs>) in the St. Olaf Catalog, designated by "(off-campus)" or "(abroad)" following the course title. Courses open for applications in a given year are listed on the International and Off-Campus Studies website (<http://stolaf.studioabroad.com>) with application instructions and fees.

Scholarships are available for students with demonstrated financial need.
